

Labour's Heritage

Without William Morris there would be no Labour Party.
In proud recognition of this fact in 1950 Labour Prime Minister, Clement Atlee, opened the only museum to him in the world, the William Morris Gallery.

Almost 60 years later will another Labour Prime Minister, Gordon Brown, be presiding in office as the local council turn a centre of excellence into a centre of mediocrity or worse?

Save our heritage from the cultural philistines

Clement Atlee opens the Gallery with full municipal entourage

Will Gordon Brown preside over its destruction

The local population hope not
